| Respondent 4  | Carnegie East Homes & James Lennox Homes | 42823   | No  | Zoom   | Yes  | Yes   | No  | Provided the services continue to be available and accessible to medically underserved populations, all residents remain accessible to a 24/7 level of required levels of care, no residents need relocate, no staff will be let go, and staff-to-patient ratios remain the same. The Department understands decisions to assign 2D residents from single to double rooms were based on clinical needs. However, Hedweg Home should consider options to ensure they are made accessible to patients from medically underserved groups, without disproportionately placing in new patients in the same area, and without disproportionately placing in new patients in the same area. The Department expects the EA to recommend that the facility conduct periodic communication and working with the transition, after working with the feedback. The Department also expects continued stakeholder engagement regarding planning and evaluation. Communication should be provided in various formats, electronic, written, and translated to individuals with limited English proficiency. The facility should prepare immediate responses if available for individuals with medical complex needs, or Medicaid, or members of other medically underserved populations disproportionately experience difficulty accessing highly needed skilled nursing care in the Bronx. While we understand the potential for pre-approved notices of moves, the Department was pleased to hear the facility would help residents move from single to double rooms, and that there is no need to transfer the residents from single to double rooms. The facility should prepare immediate responses if available for individuals with medical complex needs, or Medicaid, or members of other medically underserved populations disproportionately experience difficulty accessing highly needed skilled nursing care in the Bronx. While we understand the potential for pre-approved notices of moves, the Department was pleased to hear the facility would help residents move from single to double rooms, and that there is no need to transfer the residents from single to double rooms. The Department expects the EA to recommend that the facility conduct periodic communication and working with the transition, after working with the feedback. The Department also expects continued stakeholder engagement regarding planning and evaluation. Communication should be provided in various formats, electronic, written, and translated to
